[illegible][illegible]

A close-up photograph of the fore-edge of a book. The image shows the thickness of the pages, which appear aged and slightly discolored. A vertical strip of brown, textured material, likely the book's spine or cover, is visible on the right side. The left edge shows the binding structure and some faint red lines from the text block.

This image shows a single sheet of cream-colored paper with very faint, light blue horizontal ruling lines. The paper appears to be a flyleaf or separator page from a book or document. There are no markings, text, or illustrations on the page.

[Connecticut State Archives, RG 6, Certified Voting Records, Vol 24.]
Image courtesy of the Connecticut State Library]

A close-up photograph of the fore-edge of an old book. The image shows the thickness of the pages, which are aged and discolored. A strip of light-colored, textured material, possibly a repair or binding reinforcement, is visible along the edge of the pages.
